

Home

A feeling of comfort
Of safety and warmth
Of peace
For most

To me it is green grass, open space
A small smell of sweat and the breeze of speed.

My breath in and out
My body one with my mind

There is no surprises there
No loud noises or anger
It must diffuse as things do in the sparkling morning dew