

Into the darkness

There are times when I know
A sort of surety in my soul
That into the darkness of my mind I must go
A singular sinking feeling and then its time to roll!

With a deep breath I release my hold on the light
Free falling further into a black that is full
No reference point, No light. I will not get through with might Fervor and fire will be my guide as the depths of me poll

Farther still I fly, the kind of journey with no end
Pain pounces, pity pleads, as I prowl on by
There is no B to my point A, To be is to read
Practice relaxing, peer into your heart, peace upon you, please try