

Your mind may be moving
Your heart may be beating
But it is time for bed
So its time to be slowing

Deep Breath, is just the beginning
It's time to go inwards and begin the resting
Lower the lights, and put away the toys
Begin the descent and quiet the noise

Inhale slow as we continue down
No more Good or Frantic activity, no night on the town
The best feeling of all is the recovery you will get Brush teeth, be clean, the relaxation wash over you'll let

Process, think, be grateful, sleep
Into bed you go, no need to count sheep
With one final sigh, the tension released
Your body and mind find their peace