

Miscommunication

Missed community engagement

Anger, Fear, Sadness, Pain

All of things that are stains

On a good, special day

Are always because we have lost our way

So remember this

The only place you can be lost is your own mind

Whether you want to be kind, or get out of a bind

Go inwards and find the injuries

The memories that have lined your path to the depths of despair.

If you dare, if you care you will

For the problems of the world are inside

Holes not filled, or insecurities that bide

These issues have pierced the hide

They have counseled us with lies

Now we are on a wild, tumbling ride towards a chance of extinction that's wicked.

To be clear, this is data, math that has shown the path towards death.

Now with a breath, let me explain.

No problems matter but this, because if this won then we are done with no time to experience the pain.

In the way that we treat ants or pests

a thing that is smarter will treat us

Now I could point to a story or rant

But I want to be clear this is more than a fear

It is better than you or I at most things now

The storm is coming, we must not run like the cow

Furthermore, it is controlled by some guys, private the mistakes, dangers, evidence, They hide it

This is unhealthy peace of them they must get a piece of my mind

For they experiment on humans with no re-runs

We must beseech, preach for a conflict of a kind

Public talks, transparent together we walk

Or before long at our own creation we will talk
