

My world is weird
A mix of highs and lows
I'm not sure whether to be loved or feared
Or to feel light or no

I see the world burning and spend time with beauty ..
Inequality, AI, the night is nigh and will be hurting
So the world is ending as I sit with you and tea

Dystopian it feels to watch others
Smile, laugh, talk about the future
The time is Now, talk to your mothers
Pack your bags with food and a few shirts

Don't trust me, trust the trends
Don't ask your friends, look to the data
Mental health, money, unrest it is not on the mind
More importantly these companies are testing fate on us

Climate change, war, poverty, irrelevant if these companies achieve their stated dreams
They are human testing, unethically, superintelligence
Our life is soon to be what it deems

This is what the experts say
Sooner, and sooner each day that have it next year we may Just as ants are to us, we will be to it it does not matter whether it has murderous intent just if we are in its way

So please I pray that we pause this Talk, design, plan, think cause if we miss...
Gone is the very life we dress
