

The world burns
as people walk
Ashes fall
And people cough

The shadows grow darker and longer but people put on sunscreen

They don't see it would seem

That the world is coming to what many authors have dreamed So if you are seeing this think about your time

make sure that you walk, with that in mind