

Like a zombie I walk Down the stairs as you talk Thinking of the words you have said that I will remember till I'm dead

Knowing how you see me
Is the way for which most men plea
But I am not most so for me you boast because there is never a way either of us could coast
We will conquer and grow Pursuing endlessly education to expand what we know Playing out the never ending balance that requires all of our wonderful talents
