

Examining all the feelings not of me
Shame, worry etc

There is many a feeling not of you Shame, worry, Stress, even wonder can be feelings a sort of trick of the grind that can get you in a bind So remember this, the only place you can get lost is in your own mind

Over thinking, love, anger, overwhelm each are just products of letting ego take the helm
They get you focused on outcome instead of your inputs Thinking about self over others, or happiness over impact
You might be irritable, or prickly when in reality
You have just gotten lost in your own mind

If you think about it there are two parts to decisions Heart and mind. Often people don't use them with precision No Gear, & will be clear, Heart is for direction, mind is for how. Now this means that its best to get space when you are in a place of strategy. No need for your heart to race, just let it feed you. Heed its call you will get it all, then when its time allow your mind