

It is the fire in their eyes the staring hard, but not seeing It can be a hunter or hunted Hunger to some it looks like they're rich w/ gold to others like the sun shining down on them it may feel like you have lost your pack or that you are a star shining brightly yet light year away from your kin it often starts in darkness and it is never found alone

The sparkle in their eyes eyes with fire behind them them that conquer and innovate think of it it that both improves & destroys destroys lives, destroys planets and yet yet survival requires it. To break even is not enough Enough, No. never enough always more
