They see it in my eyes, I do not get distracted
I go, and go again at the problems that pave my path Repeatedly, I attack as I hunger for what lacks relentless

Like the waves that crash on the shore
I am the gravity that opens that door My action creates energy that flows back home

relentless

In Failure the way a ball bounces on the ground
I may be down, but I'll be up again immediately You I will find what I search for, Ground

relentless

are my inputs in this world of outputs What is the next step? What can I do?
I move endlessly down the route foot by foot

relentless

are my thoughts, sharpening, honing every action my mind is like the night, it will always come time for the predators to play, I don't settle for fractions

relentless

A wall closing in on all sides, surrounding, engulfing
From all angles, time fades as though I am everywhere Clouds rolling in, there is a way in, neverending
