

Youth

The lightness of steps

Simpleness of minds not yet layered with thought.
Not wrought with the walls we put up that make our brains a labyrinth. Causing us pain as we get lost.

Youth

Is the creative momentum of blanket forts or imaginary adventures, creation of worlds as ideas dock in our reality like ports. Details float in simply as if birds in an aviary. There is no pressure to create or not simply expansion.

Youth

is when there is not yet a normal where problems are accepted and solved with no drama It is asking for help and calling for mama and it is sharing your heart with your help not just put

Youth

Is purity in having boundaries and caring for others, a rarity in the adult world which is daring.
No games with a child, but with grownups it can be wild is that freedom to believe and dream to stretch the seams of your reality. Growth is normal and there is no need to be formal just move through space and time like a wormhole

Youth

is abundance no scarcity of time or money we look beyond those limits and our beliefs decide what's possible. And if so then it's plausible we take a shot no worry about embarrassment for our minds give us no harassment is health and connection to nature. No need to wait your turn to get some sun, Nutrients full and nervous system regulated life is always underrated

Youth

is wonder and curiosity a life that is full of adventure and learning. Every day is an opportunity to ascend, sure. New information filling our brains as we boundlessly devour every occasion.
