

Expansion - Metaphor

The sun comes over the mountain top it's golden rays highlighting the colors the leaves have got Cycling its way around our rock, its light covering all sides it's gravity guides our path through the expanse of space

It continues its path until an apex for us, and then shrinks away, for it does not stay and rather is always moving.

Heating, lighting, burning, exciting

The sun is energy and for some is frightening You see they play small and think scarce,

no Gadin

